Are you dreaming of your next vacation?

If you're an avid pickleball player, the thought of a few weeks – or even just a weekend – away from the pickleball courts might feel like too much to bear. Thankfully, you don't have to put your pickleball addiction on hold when you head out of town.

Resorts around the world are offering pickleball to guests. From lessons to pickleball happy hours, pickleball players have more options than ever for a vacation that balances fun on the court with relaxation.

For our pickleball travel guide, we sorted through the ever-growing list of pickleball resorts and narrowed it down to six. Whether you're looking for a beachside getaway or a sun-soaked desert weekend, you're bound to find the perfect resort for your next trip on this list.

Rancho La Puerta Resort & Spa in Tecate, Mexico

This wellness spa and resort knows that pickleball is good for your soul, and they have the facilities to prove it! Rancho La Puerta Resort & Spa has six pickleball courts and offers group and private lessons for players of all skill levels, as well as open play.

The resort encourages making new connections. It offers three meals each day featuring fresh produce and natural foods. In between meals and pickleball matches, you can also join one of their many fitness programs or classes. From aerial yoga to H2O Boot Camp, you're bound to find an activity you've never tried before.
